Role

The Institutional Giving Manager is responsible for securing significant funding from foundations, corporations, and government sources. Key duties include identifying, cultivating, and stewarding a portfolio of national institutional funders; writing timely and compelling letters of interest, grant proposals, and reports; managing funder relationships; increasing grant submissions through mentoring and training of the larger Brighter Bites' team; and meeting the overall institutional giving deliverables to achieve annual fundraising goals.

Position Description

- Strategy & Management: Continually develop and manage donor pipelines, implement institutional giving strategies, and achieve annual institutional fundraising goals.
- Proposal & Report Management and Writing: Research, write, and submit timely and compelling grant proposals, letters of interest, and progress reports to institutional donors; continually update grant writing resources and tools; oversee the submission of grant proposals, letters of interest, and progress reports drafted by other development and program staff.
- Donor Cultivation & Stewardship: Support the cultivation and maintenance of relationships with foundations and corporations, ensuring strong engagement and investment in the organization. Set timelines for funder touchpoints and interactions to deepen relationships and generate repeat and increased gifts.
- Team Leadership: Train and mentor the larger Brighter Bites team, empowering them to contribute to proposal writing; oversee proposal development and submissions by program and leadership team members.
- Financial Stewardship: Work with colleagues to develop program budgets for
